Subject: RE: PFS Deficiencies for Taylor, Jacks, Pratt, and Sale

Good evening, Wendy.

Thank you for your inquiries today. I have reviewed your correspondence related to Jacks (17-3950), Pratt (17-3952), Sale (17-3962), and Taylor (17-3964) and the respective PFSs. For each of the cases, several items designated as "incomplete" on the deficiency notice remain deficient in the most-recent referenced filing. Below are the recurring deficiencies with the PFSs for each of the items identified as deficient in the respective notices:

Sec. II.10 – No addresses provided for employers: Sale
Sec. II.11 – No dates of service for military service: Taylor
Sec. IV.7 – No phone number provided for pharmacies: Jacks, Pratt, Sale, Taylor
Sec. VI.1 – Failed to provide a date of injury: Pratt
Sec. VI.3 – No date of onset for emotional distress: Jacks, Pratt
Sec. IX.1 – No dates for prior name spouse used: Jacks, Sale
Sec. IX.4 – Did not identify where the Plaintiff was married: Taylor
Failed to provide a newly executed verification: Jacks
Failed to provide a medical authorization: Pratt

Hopefully this clarifies the continued deficiencies in the above matters. For future reference, an "incomplete" designation means that the Plaintiff has either not answered a question, or has failed to provide all of the required information in their response.

Thank you,
Ted

Mr. Hartman:

We are in receipt of your recent letter of April 18, 2018 regarding deficiencies.

I compared it to your past correspondence of March 13, 2018. It appears that the deficiencies were cured and was served on your firm on March 23, 2018. I have attached a copy of the email confirmation.
